INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

The manuscript should be in the following format: -

Title Page: Must contain only the title and authors' names and address indicating the corresponding author.

Second and subsequent pages

Title - It should be brief and relevant. (No author's names or address)

Abstract - The abstract should be concise containing the objectives, methodology, main results and conclusions. It should not exceed 200 words. Appropriate key words must be provided.

Introduction should be concise, to the point, and must explain clearly the objectives of the study by giving essential background in context to relevant literature.

- Please use the "name-year" system when citing references in the text. Where more citations appear at one point, list them chronologically and, within years by alphabetical order. For example: (Baloch 1992; Sarfraz 1992; Dilawar and others 1995; Sumera 1995a, b; Majeed 2000, 2001; Gilani and Muhammad 2002; Hussain and Hassan 2003).

Materials and Methods must explicitly describe the materials used, the analytical techniques followed and procedures employed for the data analysis. When using a standard method, provide complete reference. For example when AOAC, AOCS or AACC or other standard techniques are employed, please indicate the technique number in the test, viz:

- Oil content was determined according to official method No. Af 3-54 (AOCS 1997).

In case a modified method has been applied, then the modification must be elaborated.

Results and Discussion could either be combined or treated separately. The results should be concisely presented using tables and figures. The same data may not be used in both. Appropriate statistical data should be given.

Discussion must be developed logically in a proper sequence and should cover the implications and consequences not merely recapitulating the results.

References - List all references under the heading Literature cited in alphabetical order by the authors' surname or last name. Make sure that references quoted in the text are listed. Several papers by the same author and same year must be followed by a, b, c, etc. after the year. The use of standard abbreviations is preferred. Following information must be provided for each reference:

Author or authors; Year of publication; .Title of paper/book;
Abbreviated name of journal; Volume (issue number); inclusive pages. For books and proceedings, name of publisher and location is needed.

Examples:Journal article:

Malik MA, Ghafoor A, Saleem M, Ahmad MM. 1994. Preservation of watermelon squash using sodium benzoate and potassium metabisulphite. Pak. J. Agri. Sci 31(1):58-60.

Books:

Awan JA. 2002. Food processing and preservation. 1st ed. Unitech Communications; Faisalabad (Pakistan). 135 p

If the city is well known, no need to give the country, otherwise country should be written within parenthesis after the city.

Theses or Reports:

- Qaisrani TB. 1998. Use of artificial sweeteners in Kinnow drink. M.Sc. thesis (unpublished). Univ Agric, Faisalabad, Dept Food Tech.
- GOP (Government of Pakistan). 2002. Economic survey. Govt Pak, Islamabad, Economic Affairs Division.

Figures - Prepare figures and line drawings using black India ink or laser printer in Corel Draw, Excell or a similar package compatible with Windows 98. Number figures consecutively with Arabic numerals e.g. Fig 3. Captions should describe the contents so that each illustration is understandable. A hard copy of each figure must be supplied (one figure per page) and placed at the end of the manuscript. These should also be provided on diskette (with an accompanying printout).

Photographs – Must be unmounted, preferably in black and white, as glossy prints. These should be numbered as figures and referred to in the text. Do not write on either side of the photograph. Instead, write the figure number on a gummed label and affix it to the back of the print.

Tables - Number tables consecutively throughout the manuscript with Arabic numerals. All numbered tables must be referred to in the text. Tables should be few in number, carefully designed, uncrowded containing only essential data. Each table must be typed on a separate page and placed at the end of the manuscript. Keep column headings and descriptive matter brief and do not use vertical rules between columns. Only tables that complement the text, rather than duplicate it, will be accepted. Keep tables to a reasonable size. Large tables should be divided into components.

Acknowledgment, if any, should precede references.

In general, strive for a clear straightforward style that shapes up only from an imaginative use of precise, intelligible language. Keep up the literary tone of the presentation, but not at the cost of brevity and clarity.

Acronyms must be defined at first mention in the text. Use standard abbreviations.

Units and Currencies - Use Metric/SI (System international) units throughout the manuscript. If non-SI units must be used, please give conversion to the correct SI unit.
